
Prof. Olga S. Fedorova

Professor

Siberian State Medical University, Tomsk, Russian Federation

Tomsk OPIsthorchiasis Consortium, Russian Federation

Actual Position:

MD, Dr Med Sci

Professor of Faculty Pediatrics Department, Siberian State Medical University

Moskovskiy trakt, 2, Tomsk, Russian Federation, 634050

Tel / Fax: +7-3822-901-101 (1733)

Email: olga.sergeevna.fedorova@gmail.com

Professor Olga Fedorova is a specialist in the fields of epidemiology, pediatrics, clinical immunology. The main area of her interests is the epidemiology of opisthorchiasis and allergic diseases (bronchial asthma, food allergy) in Western Siberia. She is a founding member of the Tomsk OPIsthorchiasis Consortium (TOPIC) since 2014 and coordinates current projects in fields of epidemiology of Opisthorchis felinus infection, and clinical trial “Dose-finding and pharmacokinetic studies of praziquantel in patients infected with Opisthorchis felinus” in Western Siberia, Russia. She took part as investigator in the projects of EU Sixth Framework Programme IINTAS, GABRIEL, EuroPrevall, and participates in a collaborative international project supported by ERASMUS+. Member of International Networks: BIHSENA, Russian-Norway’s Network. Member of the Participatory Public Health Centre (<https://www.makinghealthpublic.org>), European Academy of Allergy and Clinical Immunology, and the Union of Pediatricians of Russia. Professor Fedorova is the member of the Editorial Boards of the “Pediatric Allergy and Immunology” (official journal of the EAACI), “Russian Allergology Journal”, “Bulletin of Siberian Medicine” (Scopus, WoS).

2018
KOREA ICOPA
14TH INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS OF PARASITOLOGY
19-24 August 2018, Daegu, Korea

ICOPA 2018 Secretariat

Tel: +82-53-746-9966 | Fax: +82-53-742-9007 | E-mail: info@icopa2018.org